TO MARK THE SPOT WHERE MARTHA RESTS

Continental Chapter, D. A. R. Considering That Subject.

DISPOSITION AT MT. VERNON

The Regents Hold They Must Keep Their Trust Intact.

Status of the Pending Controversy Between the Ladies in Charge of Washington's Tomb and the Daughters of the American Revolution—An Interesting Talk with Mr. M. A. Ballinger—The Coming Congress.

The Continental Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution does not propose to carry to its ultimate conclusion the interesting matter which was discussed, as was exclusively stated by The Times, at its November meeting, namely, whether or not there should be some appropriate inscription placed on the tomb of Washington to show that there rest also the remains of Martha Washington.

The affirmative of this question was spiritedly and patriotically maintained by the president of the chapter and several of the members, the discussion being based on certain correspondence between them and the regents of Mount Vernon.

An inquiry had been addressed to the regents, asking substantially on behalf of the chapter if there was anything to prevent the marking of the tomb in honor of Martha Washington. To this a reply was received to the effect that the regents had pledged themselves to preserve the monument intact, and that they had no authority.

TO MARK AN CHAIRMAN. The Continental Chapter thereupon instructed its corresponding secretary to pursue the inquiry further, and it is likely that at the next meeting of the organization something definite will be laid before the body as to the extent of the powers of the regents on the proposition in the forefront.

Mrs. M. A. Ballinger, the president of the Continental Chapter, was called upon last evening and was asked what was the status of the movement. She said that while she had an individual interest in the question, she preferred to speak only for the chapter, to which was due the credit of the proposition. There was no intention, Mrs. Ballinger continued, to abandon the investigation, for it had commended itself to the chapter as eminently proper and due to the consort of Washington.

"There is an obstacle just now, however," she said, "in the way of a speedy determination of the question, because the board of regents can act only as a body, and they have no meeting now in the winter. In the meanwhile the Continental Chapter will inform itself in an entirely friendly spirit, whether the obligations they have suggested be taken from the dead to them of the property or are founded on their own."

REGISTRATIONS ON DEATH. "This much we can do preparatory to any further correspondence. At Mount Vernon they assign no reason for this neglect, which is apparent to every visitor to Mount Vernon, the Meads of all Americans, and if there be no good reason why the resting place of Martha Washington should not be fitly marked, then the chapter will carry out its patriotic purpose if practicable.

"It is quite likely that the Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution will consider the subject at its meeting here in February.

"Our chapter will meet next month, and will have before it for discussion the erection of a memorial hall in this city. The act of incorporation provides for twenty-four corporators, eight each from the national societies of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Sons of the American Revolution, and the General Society of the Sons of the Revolution. Stock, original and preferred, may be taken to the amount of $300,000.

Mr. Henry W. Garret has been invited to speak on the subject of the proposed building at the evening meeting, at which time also the Rev. Dr. Palmer, of Vermont Avenue Church, will deliver an address on a selected topic.

She Has Great Grandchildren. HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 25.—Mrs. Emily Robbette Talbot, of West Hartford, the eldest resident in this State, reached her 104th birthday to-day. She was nearly nine years old when President Washington died. She was born at Walcott Hill, in Wethersfield, and was married at twenty to Ansel Talbot, who died here a few years ago. She has four children living, and grand and great-grandchildren.

Dipsomania Barred at Sea. QUEENSTOWN, Dec. 25.—The White Star line steamer Teutonic, Capt. Cameron, from New York, December 22, for Liverpool, arrived to-day. She reported that a second-class passenger named Charles R. Degan died from dipsomania on Sunday last and was buried at sea.

Another Fatal Fistic Encounter. BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 25.—Edward Swisher and Edward Harrigan engaged in a desperate fistic encounter to-day. Harrigan, in falling, fractured his skull, and death soon resulted. Swisher was arrested.

CHRISTMAS KINDNESS OF SAKS & COMPANY

One Hundred Poor Boys Have New Overcoats Now.

A PEEP BEHIND THE CURTAIN

What a Boy Discovered and How He Told About It.

East Front of the Emporium of the Popular Clothiers Designed by an Army of Little Boys in Quest of Overcoats—What Went On Inside and Outside—A Great Charity Well Bestowed Upon the Poor of the City.

St. Nicholas is undoubtedly the all-welcome and all-wise member of the firm of Saks & Co., the merchant princes who do business, as all men may see for miles and miles away, at the northwest corner of Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue. And this is why we say so:

There are in the city to-day one hundred boys, some with rosy, chubby faces and some with pale, sickly faces, some with white faces and some with black and ginger faces, some tall, some short, some round and some angular, but all worthy fellows, who are wearing the warmest and best fitting overcoats they ever had on in their lives.

This is a story within itself a long way ahead of the Christmas chronicle that boys only read about in type or cold as a blast from the Alleghenies. Saks & Company yesterday, who remembered the poor and let a warm ray of sunshine into a hundred little homes of Washington. There are at least a dozen young people in town who will remember the kindness of the firm as Christmas Overcoats & Co.

FORCED HIS WIFE TO DRINK AMMONIA

George Roth Commanded Her with a Razor in His Hand.

SHE HAD TO OBEY OR DIE

Her Death May Result from the Terrible Internal Burning.

He Came Home Drunk and Threatened to Cut His Wife's Throat Unless She Took the Liquid He Had in a Bottle—She Did Not Know Its Deadly Nature—The Fiend Arrested and Lodged in the Station-house.

"Drink that or I'll kill you!" shouted George Roth to his wife Maggie about 8:30 o'clock last night, as he held out a bottle containing a milky-looking liquid in one hand, while with the other he flourished a gleaming razor.

Roth had been out imbibing freely in Christmas beverages with his friends, and had just returned home to his wife. They occupied a suite of rooms in Mr. Rothchild's residence, No. 705 I street northwest.

Mrs. Roth protested against drinking any of the stuff, not knowing what it was but her husband who was brutally drunk held the keen edged razor to her throat and hissed:

"Drink it, you, or die."

Fearing that the enraged man might carry out his threat and not knowing that the tottled contained the strongest quality of ammonia, she gulped down a mouthful of the fluid, and then, blinded by its fumes and gasping for breath, dashed out into the air.

THROUGH THE FRONT DOOR.

Upon reaching the porch, she fell unconscious to the floor. A minute later her inebriated husband and a man attracted by the attention of Mr. Rothchild and several passers-by, and they called Policemen Samuel L. Nelson, that there was a woman in a spasm on the porch.

The patrolman quickly summoned Dr. E. W. Kelly, who lives next to the Rothchild residence, and he had her removed to her room, where she now lies in a critical condition, the poison having wrought terrible havoc with her throat and stomach.

The brutal husband found in bed, snoring as if nothing had happened. When informed of his wife's critical condition he said in a dazed tone:

"Is that dead? It is so get an undertaker and bury her."

When asked his motives for such an awful act, BOTH DECLINED TO SAY MORE.

After Mrs. Roth had been removed to consciousness by hard work on the part of the doctor and Policeman Nelson, she moaned pitifully:

"George, what did you make me take that stuff for? I know you wanted to kill me."

"What stuff?" replied Roth, who was in the room.

"That poison. Oh, God, I am going to die."

ARRESTED THE HUSBAND.

The husband was then arrested and looked up at the Twelfth street police station to await the result of his wife's injuries, the charge of "suspicion" being placed opposite his name on the blotter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roth have been living at their present address about two months, which is the time they resided on Seventh street between L and M streets northwest. Roth is a drinking man, and his neighbors say whenever he is under the influence of liquor his mania appears to be to end his wife's life.

According to the statement of Mrs. Roth's sister who attempted to shoot his wife several days ago while under the influence of liquor.

The neighbors insist that Roth be prosecuted for his latest and most diabolical attempt to kill Mrs. Roth, and the matter may be brought before the police court to-day.

ALL'S WELL IN BRAZIL.

President Moraes is Popular and Merciful with Old-Time Rebels.

QUARANTINE, S. L., Dec. 25.—Dr. L. A. Tomme, late surgeon of the Brazilian cruiser Niechewy, arrived home this morning per steamer Delcomyn from Rio Janeiro. The doctor stated that he was present at the inauguration of President Moraes, and was a guest at a reception given by the president, the same evening. He describes him as being a tall, spare man, of dignified and serious expression and of broad and liberal views. He has every reason to believe that his administration will be peaceful and prosperous.

There appears to be no indication of a rebellion, and the army and navy are completely loyal to the president. He has every reason to believe that his administration will be peaceful and prosperous.
